

PROJECT MANAGER HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

McGill serves public and private clients throughout the Southeast. The range and depth of McGill's expertise includes a wide spectrum of engineering services, land planning and recreation, and management consulting services. We are currently seeking highly motivated candidates for a Project Manager with experience in Water/Wastewater in our Hickory, North Carolina office.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities

The Project Manager (PM) plans, coordinates and directs design activities to ensure goals and objectives of all projects are accomplished within the prescribed scheduling, budget and funding parameters. He or she may be involved directly in design of projects including signing and sealing documents as the responsible engineer in charge. The PM is responsible for developing project scope, fees for services, negotiation of contracts for agreements of engineering services, project budgeting, project scheduling and client communication. He or she works across disciplines to secure surveying, electrical engineering assistance and necessary design assistance from other design groups within McGill Associates. He or she may also coordinate required assistance from outside consultants. The PM ensures that required internal quality control is applied to each project from conceptual planning through final design. The Project Manager interfaces with clients on a regular basis to ensure the highest level of client satisfaction and to help identify and develop future business opportunities. The PM may assist in the development and delivery of proposals and presentations.

Minimum Education and Licenses
